Shapers of Public Opinion

By Professor SHAILER MATHEWS, University of Chicago

PUBLIC opinion is being made to a considerable extent by the church. In the long run the church is likely to be one of the large factors in the creation of MORAL IMPULSES. The churches which amount to anything today are demanding that a confession of religious faith should carry with it such an attitude toward men and women as will lead to the abolishment of child labor, the maintenance of proper sanitary arrangements in factories and the protection of women engaged in industrial pursuits. Just because of this ethical public opinion created by the preaching of a social gospel it is a little more difficult for men to be church members today than it was when church membership involved an assent to a creed and LITTLE MORE THAN AN INDIVIDUALISTIC MORALITY.

Colleges and universities are shaping public opinion also. The socialistic propaganda is another important element in the remaking of public opinion. We are less afraid of the word socialism today than we were ten years ago. We are not likely to become socialists in the thoroughgoing programme sense of the word, but the INFLUENCE OF SOCIALISM and socialistic ideals upon our legislation is almost immeasurable.

TAKEN ALTOGETHER, THESE DIFFERENT FORCES PROMISE A NEW PUBLIC OPINION, WHICH WILL MAKE THE NEXT PERIOD IN THE NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT SOMETHING VERY DIFFERENT FROM THAT WHICH IS PAST.

THE Ross-Langford election contest came to a close, shrouded in mystery. On the face of the returns Ross has 147 plurality. Langford's attorneys claim the ballots were tampered with, while Ross' attorneys claim the latter was counted out by the election boards. Judge Welch has ordered an investigation, to be conducted by the District Attorney. Something is liable to drop.

It dries with a good gloss and will stand scrubbing with soap and water. Comes in 26 attractive shades.

The S-W. Floorlac is another splendid household brightener. It is a stain and varnish combined and can be used on old or new woods equally well. Imitates the natural woods and gives a most pleasing effect.

Two Campbell Couples Enter Upon a Life of Bliss.

ROBINSON-MC CAUGHEY.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson have just announced their marriage, which took place at Santa Clara November 25th. They have kept the good news a secret from all but a few of their closest friends until a few days ago, when they went to housekeeping in Herbert Sault's pretty new cottage on Sunnyside Ave.

Mrs. Robinson was Miss Elena McCaughey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McCaughey and has lived in this vicinity since early childhood. The groom has for some years been employed in the hardware and plumbing establishment of C. H. Whitman.

Both young people are popular in their circle of acquaintances and have many friends to wish them well in their new life.

WOLTERS-HIATT.

Sunnyside boasts another bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wolters (nee Miss Edith Hiatt) were married in San Jose Thursday and are now at home on Sunnyside avenue, after a short honeymoon trip.

A PETTY GRAFT.

One of the meanest grafts in the Legislature are junketing trips. Members get appointed on Committees to visit institutions in all parts of the State, and then put in big bills for expenses. Railroad fare is charged at 10 cents a mile yet the lawmakers don't pay a cent for traveling. The Committees never learn anything worth talking about, but they have a good time and pocket some money.

It is a petty steal. An attempt in the Assembly to limit the amount of money to the "actual expenses" incurred in the trips was defeated, and we are sorry to see our own Assemblyman Dr. Higgins voted with the wolves. —Gilroy Gazette.

Yes, and our Assemblyman Guy Smith is mixed up in the same deal. Yes, and Assemblyman Spalding of Sunnyvale, too. Is it not strange that as soon as our legislators get to Sacramento one of the first things they do is to get all there is in sight? It is to the credit of the Senate that it voted down the junketing trip proposition, but instead send small committees, at a cost of the actual expense incurred.

Humor and Philosophy

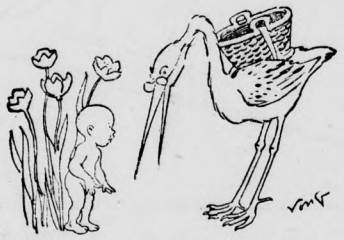
By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

People who have no temper always get credit for keeping it.

The pleasure is all theirs when some men tell a funny story.

Are men more truthful than women? That depends upon the man—likewise upon the woman.



Some people, if they had been consulted on the proposition of being born, would have spent the time allotted to them for living arguing the proposition.

Many evils render themselves tolerable by catering to our vanity.

When people don't know what else to do they give advice.

Women consider a secret a proud possession to be exploited to its fullest extent.

Babies are supremely oblivious of the sentiments that the unrelated community at large cherish toward them.

What the Grange Does.

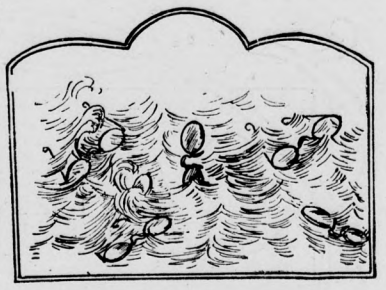
The grange seeks the greatest good of all.

The grange passed the experimental stage over twenty years ago.

The grange has fought great fights and now wants to share the victories with you.

The grange develops brotherly feeling and good will among farmers.

A usable knowledge of parliamentary rules, tactics and practices is one of the things the grange is able to furnish every member.



"FLOATING SPEX"
(Muscae Volitantes)

Very annoying aren't they—those little fly-like specks that dance and float around apparently right in front of one's eyes?

Why not see if glasses properly fitted wont drive these little specks away? They're often caused by eye-strain, and when so caused are easily and quickly removed with proper glasses.

VIEWS ON GRANGE WORK.

State Master Horton of Michigan Gives Answer to Some Questions.

Hon. George B. Horton, master of Michigan state grange, has for several years been at the head of the grange movement, and by his individual efforts, seconded by a strong deputy organization, has built up the grange to its present high standard in that state. In a recent interview he was asked if he saw any danger, or signs of danger, ahead in the grange movement; if so, what are they? He replied: "In times of prosperity there is danger of those being attracted to activity for selfish purposes. 'For farmers, by farmers and in the interest of farmers' should be the words passed all along grange lines. No matter how seemingly sincere or earnest and solicitous for our welfare, be watchful of the active movements of those members not directly interested in the tilling of the soil or in farm life."

Asked if the grange was undertaking too many things in national and state legislation, and if it would not be wiser to attempt less and perhaps secure more, Mr. Horton replied: "There is very little danger of the grange becoming overaggressive. Our chief care should be to espouse reforms based upon common sense and justice. If we are wise in this, the good name of the grange will be perpetuated through generations to come."

Asked what questions of a public nature are now demanding the attention of the grange in Michigan, Mr. Horton said: "We are attempting to amend the direct nominations law and also enact good roads legislation in a rational way. We are discussing forestry from the farmer's standpoint and have kept up the agitation for the denatured alcohol law, which is now on our statute books."

CIVIC AFFAIRS.

Each Grange Should Be the Center of Civic Life.

The field for grange activity is as wide as its members care to make it. The ideal condition would be to have the grange the center of civic life and rural progress. Its members should lead in local community improvements, and they should be a recognized, helpful influence in every community. The future is to see important changes in educational processes and in the larger utilization of schools, schoolhouses and equipment. The rural school should continue to be the best school, but its work should be brought into closer touch with life on the farm and in the home.

A committee on civic affairs should be appointed in every grange, and through this committee the grange and the public generally would be induced to promote such objects as the following: First, neatly kept grounds about farmhouses and village homes; second, attractively kept roadsides, free from rubbish, but this does not mean to ruthlessly cut out brush or trees that add a charm to the landscape; third, proper care of roadside trees, to see that they are not gnawed by horses or destroyed by insects; fourth, co-operation in fighting orchard and other tree pests, so the trees will not only be profitable, but have a pleasing look; fifth, gradually reduce and finally abolish unsightly advertisements or signboards along the highway and on private buildings; sixth, cultivate a spirit of pride in the whole township, its resources, social life and industrial opportunities; seventh, do everything possible to encourage the development of small or large manufactures, home industries, handicraft, etc.

Every intelligent effort along those lines will redound to the interest of the grange as well as be a benefit to all the community.

Married In the Grange.

A rather unusual programme was that presented by a grange in Maine recently. After several numbers of the programme had been rendered the wedding march was being played, the Patrons marching around the hall. They stopped before the master's desk, when a brother and sister in the Order were united as man and wife by one having authority so to do. After the ceremony a recess was declared and congratulations extended to the newly married couple. Refreshments were furnished by the groom.

REA APPOINTS COMMITTEE.

Prominent Business Men to Investigate Election Frauds.

Jas. W. Rea, appointed by the mass meeting of citizens held last Saturday in Hale's Hall to select a committee of twenty-five for the purpose of helping to detect the parties who have committed the election frauds in this county, submits the following list as his appointees:

O. A. Hale, president San Jose and Los Gatos Interurban Railway Company; L. E. Hanchett, president San Jose and Santa Clara Railway Company; G. L. Barker, manager First Street Railway Company; J. F. Brooks, Safe Deposit Bank; William Knox Bean, Bank of San Jose; L. Lion, Commercial Savings Bank; E. T. Sterling, Security State Bank; W. C. Andrews, Farmers Union; A. T. Potter, Garden City Bank and Trust Company; J. W. Lyndon, Los Gatos Bank; Walter Clark, Mountain View Bank; L. A. Whitehurst, Gilroy Bank; A. B. Fatjo, Santa Clara Bank; J. P. Jarman, president Merchants' Alliance; W. G. Mathewson labor union; R. Telfer, labor union; S. M. Keith, labor union; V. A. Scheller, president Chamber of Commerce; Frank Stock, hardware merchant; A. Greeninger, carriage merchant; Rev. Father Lally, pastor St. Patricks Church Rev. L. S. Jones, pastor South Methodist Church; J. H. Lawrence, president Federated Church Clubs; H. J. Edwards, superintendent Gas and Electric Company; M. Casey, ex-mayor Gilroy.

"I hope that I have selected a committee which will meet and perform the great duties devolving upon it," said Mr. Rea.

"There can be no question but that the purposes for which the committee has been called into existence are of the most vital importance to this community. It has been pointed out that the officers of the court, and in fact the Court itself, need light thrown upon the dark places, if I may so word it, and need the help, both financial and moral, of the entire community in the effort to uncover the guilty parties. As I understand it, that was the spirit which called the meeting together who appointed me as its chairman and instructed me to select a committee of twenty-five. That meeting had no other purpose in view than the locating of the guilty parties and seeing that they are adequately punished."
